BRILLIANT FUNCTIONS OF INDEPENDENCE WEEK

United States Naval Ball the Principal Society Event for the Coming Week.

ANOTHER week of unprecedented social brilliancy has been added to the season's record, which shows a series of more sumptuous entertainments than have been placed to society's credit, during the summer months, for some years. The ball given by Mr. and Mrs. James Judd at the Colonial hotel last evening furnished a brilliant climax to the succession of society events. The function was given in honor of their house guest, Miss Dwinell of California. Honolulu has rarely seen a more beautiful entertainment, certainly not a smarter one than last night's affair. American Beauty roses, golden shower and potted palms formed a conspicuous part in the decorative scheme. Large bowls of beaten brass, filled with Ninko lilies, were placed throughout the large hall. These lilies are a deep yellow in color and are almost as rare, and choicer as orchids. The porte cochere, large verandas, and entrance to the hotel, was lighted with myriads of electric lights. Hundreds of different colored lights were arranged through the spacious grounds. Although it tended to add to the brilliancy of the scene, artificial light was unnecessary, for the rays from the moon, shed a brightness and luster that is hard to rival. Prior to the dancing, from half after eight until nine o'clock an informal reception was held. The receiving party stood in the large reception hall. The walls of this room are tinted in a delicate green, which made a beautiful background. The color scheme for this room was pink and green. Pale pink asters were effectively used. The flowers were banded on the inlaid cabinets and piano, large bowls of the flowers were placed on the table and tabourets. The tall tropical palms that grow so profusely in the islands, lent added beauty to the interior of the room. The receiving party consisted of Dr. and Mrs. James Judd, Miss Dwinell and Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder. Mrs. Judd was attired in pale blue satin, veiled with lace, with Egyptian embroidery wrought in silver. The exquisite toilette enhanced her brunette type of beauty. A broad band of brilliant was worn in her hair. Miss Dwinell wore a stunning costume of yellow satin, veiled in French blue chiffon, trimmed in jeweled and embroidered posamenterie. A string of pearls was worn. Mrs. Dwinell is a tall, stunning blonde, by her affability and graciousness, she has become very popular, even during her short sojourn in the islands. Mrs. Gerrit Wilder looked beautiful in white satin and Duchess lace. A pendant of pearls and diamonds was worn. Shortly after nine o'clock the dancing began and continued until a late hour. The ball room was filled with palms and festooned with the

Mr. and Mrs. Timberlake and Mrs. Johnson to Entertain.

Mrs. Edward J. Timberlake and Mrs. John Stuart Johnson are entertaining this afternoon at a bridge tea that is being given at the Hotel Colonial. The color scheme for this elaborate function is being carried out in yellow. Even the hostesses carried this color in the mode of dressing. Mrs. Timberlake is wearing a New York creation of white Marquise and lace, over yellow satin, with a large black hat. Mrs. Timberlake is a tall, willowy blonde. She possesses such exquisite coloring that she can wear any color and it will prove becoming. Mrs. John Stuart Johnson's frock is very beautiful of cream lace over maize-colored satin. A large picture hat will complete the stunning costume. At the conclusion of the card playing, a number of friends will drop in for tea. Refreshments will be served at a circular table, ornamented with golden shower and maidenhair. Mrs. Walter Cowles will serve punch at one side and on the other side Mrs. George Sherman will dispense an ice. In perfection of detail in decorative effects, these two army hostesses are possessed with artistic ability and ingenuity—this afternoon's entertainment will figure on the social calendar as one of the most beautiful functions of the season. The prizes for the bridge are especially pretty. The first prize is a massive brass lantern, of an eastern design. The second prize is a tall basket of hampered brass. The consolation prize is also in brass, this frame containing an old Japanese print, will gladden the heart of the one who wins it. One table has been set aside for "hearts." The prize for this particular table is half a dozen brass finger-bowls, with the fingerbowl plates. The tally cards, for the bridge, are Colonial dainties. These score cards are especially appropriate for the affair is given at the Colonial hotel. The appointments of this new hotel, are all in Colonial design. Among those invited are Mrs. Walter Frear, Mrs. Walter Cowles, Mrs. Montgomery Macomb, Mrs. George Sherman, Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, Mrs. Francis Mills Swanny, Mrs. Clifton Carter, Mrs. Frank B. Edwards, Mrs. Game, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Cochran, Mrs. Burnham, Mrs. Neville, Mrs. Arthur Marix, Mrs. Putnam, Mrs. Tuttle, Mrs. Stewart Williams, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Alexander Davis, Mrs. Roy Francis Smith, Mrs. Bruce Cartwright, Jr., Mrs. Clarence Short, Mrs. Sara B. ### Mr. and Mrs. Swanny's Tea.

The society folk are anticipating the reception that will be given this afternoon from 4 to 7 by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mills Swanny. The reception is a coming-out party for their oldest daughter. This affair will be marked by simplicity of detail, but will be none the less notable. The family has been prominent in society for many years. Mrs. Swanny is one of the leaders of the smart set. The interior of their home is so handsome and artistic that floral adornment is unnecessary. Miss Swanny is very popular and has been the recipient of many flowers. Roses are among her favorite flowers, consequently the floral gifts have consisted mostly of these flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Swanny and Miss Swanny will receive in the drawing room, which will be filled with these fragrant roses. Refreshments will be served at small tables on the spacious lawn. Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, Mrs. William Goodale, Mrs. George R. Carter, Mrs. D. Howard Hitchcock, Mrs. George Sherman, Mrs. James Wilder, Mrs. Ranney Scott, Mrs. James R. Judd, Mrs. Richard Ivers and Mrs. Bernice Walbridge will assist the hostess. Mrs. George Carter will pour coffee, and Mrs. Gerrit and Mrs. James Wilder will serve the punch. Four hundred invitations have been issued.

home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder. Mr. and Mrs. Wilder are ideal entertainers and their hospitality is renowned. The repast was served at half after seven at a round table that was exquisitely decorated in yellow. Those present at this delightful affair, besides the host and hostess, were Admiral and Mrs. Walter Cowles, General and Mrs. Montgomery Macomb, Mrs. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mills Swanny, Mr. and Mrs. George Sherman and Colonel Wilder.

Mrs. Alexander Robertson's Tea.

Among the pretty teas of the week was the 4 o'clock tea presided over by Mrs. Alexander Robertson, wife of Chief Justice Robertson. The affair was in honor of Mrs. James Hough and Miss Helen Hough of Stockton, California. Refreshments were served in the dining room, and tea was poured by the pretty young hostess at a table decorated with blue hydrangeas and maidenhair fern. The blossoms were arranged in a cut glass bowl that was placed on a Cluny lace centerpiece. The highly polished

Lieutenant and Mrs. Philip Wrightson are proving quite an addition to the social life at Fort Shafter. Lieutenant Wrightson was stationed at Fort Shafter before his marriage. Directly after that event he was ordered to the Philippines, where they have been residing for over a year. Lieutenant and Mrs. Wrightson are popular, not only among the service set in Honolulu, but are universally liked by the townfolk as well, and every one is delighted that they are to stay in the islands for the next six months.

If its new you will find it at Jordan's.
